Füreinander hier.

Cologne's club scene is brimming with creativity, cultural diversity, and legendary nights. At the same time, more and more venues are taking responsibility for a sustainable future. In addition to the Cologne Climate Grant, the following ten clubs have also signed the Code of Conduct of ZUKUNFT FEIERN—the nationwide sustainability network for clubs, event organizers, and festivals. They impressively demonstrate how vibrant club culture, social responsibility and collective action are shaping the future of nightlife.

Freddy Schilling stands for the enjoyment of burgers with passion and a clear conscience. The meat comes from the Neuland producers' association – produced in a species-appropriate, sustainable and environmentally friendly manner. Every morning, it is freshly minced and shaped into patties – 100% handmade for maximum flavour. At the same time, we show that you can enjoy a burger without meat. Creative vegetarian and vegan options, such as those featuring fermented, preserved vegetables, are a regular feature of our menu. Our Ehrenfeld branch also regularly hosts exhibitions by local artists and the event series Burger, Beats, Art.

At Café GLORIA, Cologne-style delights meet a nostalgic cinema atmosphere. Here you can enjoy freshly ground coffee from the Cologne roastery ERNST, homemade vegan cakes from Café Rotkehlchen and a weekly changing lunch menu with creative dishes – you can find the current menu on Instagram at @cafegloriakoeln. The special atmosphere is reminiscent of the time when the GLORIA was still a premiere cinema in the 1950s: The original ticket booths, large display cases and the sparkling glass-brick ceiling tell stories from a bygone era. In summer, the lovingly designed outdoor area invites you to enjoy a little break right in the heart of the city.

All our delicatessen products come from owner-managed businesses across Germany, with whom we are always in close contact. On-site visits and a partnership-based relationship are particularly important to us and are a real pleasure. All ingredients are sourced locally and regionally, with the majority of the processing done by hand – just as it should be in a proper artisan workshop.

Personalised advice, ethically sourced

At Perlhund, it's all about clothing and colour. Does this skirt suit me? Does this colour suit me? Why yes, and why not? You'll find out at Perlhund. I'll give you personalised advice based on your body type. That way, you can shop sustainably. The fact that every single item here is also produced fairly and, in most cases, sustainably is down to my bad experience with the conventional clothing industry. If you pop round, feel free to ask me – I'd be happy to tell you all about it!

I source the gold for your jewellery fair-trade from Lapland. To truly learn my craft from the ground up, I spent a summer there before my goldsmith's apprenticeship searching for gold. Here, one of the purest gold deposits on earth is mined ecologically – sustainably, in small claims, by hand and without the use of chemicals. Alternatively, I am happy to transform your heirlooms or old gold into bespoke jewellery tailored to your wishes – especially with wedding rings, this is a lovely way to incorporate your family history. The results are rings crafted with great attention to detail, which are highly personalised and perfectly tailored.

The joy of cooking The BioGourmet

Club's primary mission is to help people discover a love of cooking. In our cookery school, we therefore provide you with simple recipes that we have tried and tested ourselves. It is equally important to us to encourage you to cook with the best, sustainable ingredients, which offer you the best possible taste experience and also support your health. We offer a lunch menu on Fridays. For information and bookings, please

Pepper from small holders

For us, trade is perfect when all parties involved benefit: the smallholders in southern Cambodia, who devote a great deal of time and care to delivering top quality; us, who put our passion and energy into promoting and selling Kampot pepper; and, of course, our customers, who can be assured of the quality, sustainability and fairness of our products. We are convinced that Hennes Finest will only be successful if these conditions are maintained.

Welcome to the sustainable world of Brillen Thomas. In the plastic-dominated world of eyewear, it is a priority for us to break new ground with innovative, eco-friendly frames. Our holistic approach is tailored to your unique personality. We take the individual anatomy of each eye into account with precise attention to detail. We would be happy to explain this to you in a personal consultation. Of course, we offer you top-quality lenses. For example, our biometrically calculated varifocals. And all at a fair price.

Our rooms are little works of art designed for living – whether for a night or longer. Whether it's Bollywood flair, a spaceship bed, a ballet studio or a boat cabin: every room tells a story – right in the heart of the Belgian Quarter, Cologne's creative hub. Sustainability and climate justice are what drive us. We're keen on change and are constantly on the lookout for new opportunities, hacks and ideas to make our favourite place even greener, fairer, more inclusive and a better place to live. www.die-wohngemeinschaft.net/de

3 In the shared flat's living room, there's always room for real conversations, new ideas and something special. Over cake, drinks, vegetarian street food, table tennis and dancing, daydreamers meet those who love to reminisce. Sustainability and climate justice, along with a desire for change, are what drive us. We are constantly on the lookout for new opportunities, hacks and ideas to make our favourite place even greener, fairer, more inclusive and a better place to live.

The origins of HEILANDT in the Belgian Quarter. It started out as a roastery, café and shop all in one, and since 2010 has been a cosy spot for anyone looking to buy a good cup of coffee or enjoy one right there on the spot.

JUST BEE

Since 2012, the Just Bee educational apiary has been offering the public the chance to take part, free of charge, every Saturday at 9 am, in learning about beekeeping practices, the seasonal life cycle of bee colonies and, for those interested, an introduction to hands-on beekeeping. The honey produced jointly by learners and teachers remains the sole source of funding to this day. The honey has already been awarded silver and gold medals by the German Beekeepers' Association.
